

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Who is required to live on campus?

All students with less than 60 credits attempted are required to live on campus. See Part I of the Housing Contract.

What is the duration of the Housing Contract?

One (1) academic year – Fall 2007 semester and Spring 2008 semester

Are all residence halls coed?

Yes. All residence halls are coed.

May I reside in Bard, Gaige, Harbold, or Hull Hall for the 2007/2008 academic year?

No. These halls will be occupied by new admits to the University for the 2007/2008 academic year.

If I am currently living in a Premium Room (single/single, room with bathroom) will I automatically get it back next semester?

No. You must complete a Premium Room Contract to apply for your room for the 2007/2008 academic year. Completing a Premium Room Contract does not guarantee you will be housed in the same room.

If medical students complete a Premium Room Contract by the deadline, they may receive the room they occupied during the spring semester.

What if I do not complete a Premium Room Contract for my current room or any other Premium Room?

You will forfeit your room and forfeit any chance of receiving a Premium Room.

What if I am not called or awarded a Premium Room?

Continue with the Lottery Process.

May I select an incoming student or a student from off campus as a roommate?

No. Consolidation of returning students will be taking place during the Room Selection Process.

May I select someone on the Special Billing List as a roommate?

Yes. You may select a student from the Special Billing List if the Special Billing student requested has paid a housing deposit and selected you as a roommate on the Special Billing form or called the Housing Office and requested you as a roommate.

Students who are on the Special Billing List are students on a University approved Leave of Absence (i.e., study abroad, medical leave, etc.).

If I would like to reside in a designated triple or quad, do I need to have two or three roommates at the time of selection?

Yes. If you want to claim a vacant triple or quad, you must have the required number of roommates to fill the room.

May I request a Single/Double room for the 2007/2008 academic year.

Single/Double rooms are not offered at this time. If space becomes available once the Fall 2007 semester begins, or if space is available for the Spring 2008 semester, the Housing Office may offer Single/Double Rooms.

If I do not have a roommate preference, how will you determine my roommate?

We will be consolidating all students during the Room Selection Process. If you are sitting alone in a room, the first person to request the hall you have chosen will be placed with you in that room.

Please see information regarding “How will I find out who my roommate will be...” below.

How will I find out who my roommate will be for the 2007/2008 academic year?

Room assignments and roommate information will be available in each residence hall after the Male Room Selection process. Assignments will be posted on or around April 16.

Another posting will be available in each residence hall after the Open Room Change Period. Assignments will be posted on or around May 4.

If after the room selection process is completed, and when I receive my housing assignment letter in July, may I telephone my assigned roommate and tell them they will have to move at the beginning of the semester?

No. This action will result in a discipline violation.
